

PSYC 237: Lifespan Human Development

Explores growth and development of the human organism biologically and socially from conception to death. Topics include the interaction of bio-psychological stresses on contemporary human development. Designed for pre-nursing, psychology, and education majors.

Credits: 3

Program: Psychology