

PSYC 351: Physiological Psychology

Introduces information processing in the nervous system. Topics include sensation, transduction, information processing, movement, perception, consciousness, attention, language, memory, motivation, and emotion.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

BIOL 101 or PSYC 112.

Program: Psychology