CPSC 215: Assembly Language Programming

Introduction to the internal operation of a computer's machine language. Topics include computer architecture, data representation, storage definition, assembler concepts, and instruction formats in an assembler language.

Credits: 3
Prerequisites:
CPSC 211.
Program: Computer Science