

PSYA 237: Lifespan Human Development

Examines the growth and development of the human organism. Topics include biological and social stages of growth from conception to death and the interaction of bio-psycho-social stresses on contemporary human development.

Credits: 3

Program: Undergraduate