

BOT 621: Exposition in the Prophets and Apocalypse

Examines Old Testament prophetic books and the Apocalypse, as well as the skills and methods necessary for developing expository messages from the OT/NT prophetic material. Topics include salient prophetic motifs such as, Messianic prophecies, justice, idolatry, exile, restoration and creation/new creation and genre-specific hermeneutical issues will be examined. Biblical material studied may vary from semester to semester. Cross-listed with HOM 621.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

BOT 530

Program: Old Testament (AGTS)