

BTH 941: Epistemology and Christianity

Focuses on various problems of epistemology as they relate to the Christian faith and biblical hermeneutics. It will seek to demonstrate the necessity of a consistent Christian epistemology, developing principles necessary if one wants an adequate account of knowledge. Major individuals covered include Plantinga, Polanyi, and Van Til. Topics include foundationalism, coherentism, and the justification of knowledge and presuppositional apologetics as part of a fully orbed epistemology.

Credits: 4

Program: Biblical Theology (PhD BTH)